Junior Developer Trainee (09,2016 - 07,2017)

During 12 months training I got acquainted with variety of programming skills, both soft and hard. During five-day sprints we created large applications in small groups which allowed us to fully develop the skills of working in a team.

During my own work, thanks to a large amount of accessible material, I was able to efficiently develop my knowledge in the field of programming and effective search of necessary materials
